

MAYOR SCHMITZ WAS INFLUENCED BY KAISER

IN SEGREGATING THE JAPANESE CHILDREN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

So Charges United States Residents to the Council of the Progressive Party in Tokio, Japan, Today.

TOKIO, June 10.—A deputation of Japanese from the United States appeared today before a meeting of the council of the progressive party and presented a statement in substance as follows:

The settlement of the San Francisco trouble cannot be considered as final, and a reoccurrence of the difficulty may be expected at any time. It is absolutely necessary to place the Japanese in a position to receive exactly the same treatment as is accorded Europeans.

THE LAW SEGREGATING JAPANESE SCHOOL CHILDREN WAS PASSED THREE YEARS AGO, BUT THE AUTHORITIES HESITATED TO CARRY OUT ITS PROVISIONS. ITS SUDDEN ENFORCEMENT LAST YEAR OCCURRED SOON AFTER THE RETURN OF MAYOR SCHMITZ FROM GERMANY WHERE HE HAD AN AUDIENCE WITH EMPEROR WILLIAM. CONSEQUENTLY, SOME ARE INCLINED TO ATTRIBUTE THE MAYOR'S ANTI-JAPANESE ATTITUDE TO THE INFLUENCE OF THE KAISER.

PAID TO KEEP JAPANESE OUT.

Another report is to the effect that the Hawaiian sugar interests have paid the anti-Japanese and anti-Korean organization in San Francisco $3,000,000 for preventing Japanese from going to California. Hoch prints a report from Washington stating that the Japanese in America are allied with the progressive party here in an attempt to overthrow the cabinet on account of the American question, but little credence is placed in this assertion. It is true, however, that the progressive party is the only political organization which has publicly taken up the question. While avoiding expressions of marked sympathy with the alleged victims of anti-Japanese sentiment in America, there is no doubt that the progressives will use the San Francisco troubles as a weapon with which to attack the government, should the ministry fail to effect a speedy and satisfactory settlement.

The U. S. question is likely to afford the most popular platform for the progressive and other opposition parties that are preparing for the general election next spring.

HOULD WASHINGTON RESPONSIBLE.

STABBED ON REFUSING TO GIVE BURGLAR MONEY

Upon refusing to give some money to a burglar, who broke into his home at 16 Yolo street this morning, Ettore Di Giorgi, an Italian, was partially stabbed to death at the rear of his home. By the time the companies responded and before water could be turned on the whole Quadt building was burning fiercely with an explosion every now and then when some fresh water was poured on it. The blaze rapidly ate its way through the rear of the Studebaker store and when the firemen drew their hose forward the stock in the back of the store was already half gone.

Any attempt to quench the flames in the Quadt building was quite hopeless. The firemen merely tried to confine the fire to the Studebaker establishment, part of the stock of which they succeeded in saving.

Across the street from the burning building stands the new Grand Central Hotel, which houses about 200 guests. These all came rushing to the windows and some of them were frightened to leave the building.

But when it was seen that the firemen had the flames under control confidence was restored once more and the pale watchers went back to their beds.

"CHILDREN ARE THE NATION OF THE FUTURE"

President Roosevelt

PRESIDENT SAYS GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF FUEL AND RANGE LANDS INEVITABLE

In Speech Before Newspaper Men at Jamestown Roosevelt Lays Stress Upon Necessity of Conserving the Natural Resources of Nation.

JAMESTOWN, Va., June 10.—President Roosevelt delivered the following speech before the National Editorial Association here this afternoon:

"It is of course a mere truism to say that no other body of our countrymen wield as extensive an influence as those who write for the daily press and for the periodicals. It is also a truism to say that such power implies the gravest responsibility, and the man exercising it should hold himself accountable, and should be held by others accountable, precisely as if he occupied any other position of public trust. I do not intend to dwell upon your duties today, however, save that I shall wish you to point out to me a matter which it seems to me the need of our people is vital. It is essential that the man in public life and the man who writes in the public press shall both of them, if they are really good servants of the people, be prompt to assail wrongdoing and wickedness. But in thus assailing wrongdoing and wickedness, there are two conditions to be fulfilled, because if results, harm and not good will result.

In the first place, be sure of your facts and avoid everything that is materia or exaggeration; for it is much a decent man for something of which he is innocent to give aid and comfort to every scoundrel, while indulgence in hysterical exaggeration serves to weaken, not strengthen, the statement of truth. In the second place, be sure that you base your judgment on conduct and not on the social or economic position of the individual with whom you are dealing. There are good and bad men in every walk of life, and their being good or bad does not depend upon whether they have or do not have large bank accounts. Yet this elementary fact, this fact which we all accept as self-evident, when we think each of us of the people whom he himself knows in his business and social relations, is often completely ignored by certain public men and certain public writers. The men who thus ignore it and who attack wickedness only when found in a particular class are always unsafe, and are sometimes very dangerous, leaders.

CLASS PREJUDICE MEANS DISHONESTY

Distrust equally the man who is never able to discover any vice of rich men to attack and the man who confines himself to attacking the sins and shortcomings of rich men. It is a sure sign of moral and mental dishonesty in any man if in his public assaults upon iniquity he is never able to see any iniquity save that of a particular class and this whether he is only to see the causes of artifice and oppression in the rich or the causes of envy and violence in the poor.

He is no true American if he is a respecter of persons where right and wrong are concerned and if he fails to denounce the demagogue no less than the corruptor, to denounce alike crimes of organized greed and crimes of brutal violence. There is equal need to denounce the wealthy man who swindles investors or buys legislatures or oppresses wage-workers, and the needy man who induces class hatred or class violence. We need to hold the scales of justice even, and to weigh them down on one side as bad as to weigh them down on the other.

So much for what I have to say to you in your capacity of molders and guides of public thought. In addition I want to speak to you on two great movements in our public life which I feel must necessarily occupy no inconsiderable part of the time of our public men in the near future. One of these is the question of, in certain ways, reshaping our system of taxation to make it better, most nearly on those capable of supporting the strain. The other is the question of utilizing the natural resources of the nation in the way that will be of most benefit to the nation as a whole.

FORESIGHT IS THE BEST ESSENTIAL

In utilizing and conserving the natural resources of the nation the one characteristic more essential than any other is foresight. Unfortunately, foresight is not usually characteristic of a young and vigorous people, and it is obviously not a marked characteristic of us in the United States. Yet assuredly it should be the growing nation with a future which takes the long look ahead, and the man who is growing so rapidly as ours, has a future so full of promise. No other nation enjoys so wonderful a measure of present prosperity which can of right be treated as an earnest of future success, and for no other are the rewards of foresight so great, so certain, and so easily foretold. Yet hitherto as a nation we have tended to live with an eye single to the present, and have permitted the reckless waste and destruction of much of our natural wealth.

The conservation of our natural resources and their proper use constitute the fundamental problem which underlies almost every other problem of our national life. Unless we maintain an adequate material basis for our civilization, we can not maintain the institutions in which we take so great and so just a pride, and to waste and destroy our natural resources means to undermine this material basis. During the last five years efforts have been made in various directions in the Government service to get our people to look ahead, to exercise foresight, and to substitute a planned and orderly development of our resources in the place of a haphazard striving for immediate profit. The effort has been made through several agencies.

OPENED UP WEST FOR IRRIGATION

In 1902 Reclamation Service began to develop the larger opportunities of the western half of our country for irrigation. The work includes all the valleys from the Colorado basin through the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific slope. It has been conducted with the clear and definite purpose of using the valuable water resources of the public land for the greatest good for the greatest number in the long run; in other words, for the purpose of putting upon the land permanent homes for those who will use and develop it by abuse; and as an incident consider-for themselves and for their children and children's children. There has been a natural, of course, to this work of the Reclamation Service; for we have been obliged to antagonize certain men whose interest it was to exhaust for their own temporary personal profit natural resources which ought to be developed through use, so as to be conserved for the permanent common advantage of the people as a whole. But there will be no halt in the work of preserving the waters which head in the Rocky Mountain region so as to make them of most use to the people as a whole, for the policy is essential to our national welfare.

The public lands of the United States should be utilized in a similar fashion. Our present public land laws were passed when there was a vast surplus of vacant public land. The chief desire was to secure settlers thereon, and comparatively slight attention was paid as to exactly how the lands were disposed of in detail; consequence, lax execution of the laws became the rule both in the land office and in the public mind, and little frauds were common and little noted. This was especially true when a system originally designed for the fertile and well-watered regions of the Middle West was applied to the drier regions of the Great Plains and to the mountains and the Pacific coast. In these regions the system lent itself to fraud, and much land passed out of the hands of the Government without passing into the hands of the home maker. The Department of the Interior and the Department of Justice joined in prosecuting the offenders against the law; but both the law and its administration were defective, and needed to be changed. Three years ago the Public Lands Commission was appointed to scrutinize the law and the facts and to recommend a remedy. Their examination specifically showed the existence of great frauds upon the public domain, and their recommendations for changes in the law were made with the design of conserving the natural resources of every part of the public land by putting it to its best use.

Attention was especially called to the prevention of settlement by the passage of great areas of public lands into the hands of a few men and to the enormous waste caused by unrestricted grazing on the open range; a system of using the natural forage on the public domain which amounts to putting a premium on its destruction. The recommendations of the Public Lands Commission were sound, for they were especially in the interest of the actual home maker; and where the small home maker could not utilize the land it was provided that the Government should keep control of it so that it could not be monopolized by a few wealthy men. Congress has not yet acted upon these recommendations, except for the repeal of the iniquitous lieu-land law. But the recommendations are so just and proper, so essential to our national welfare, that I believe they will surely ultimately be adopted.

WASTE OF EFFORTS AND OF FORESTS

In 1891 Congress authorized the President to create national forests in the public domain. These forest reserves remained for a long time in charge of the General Land Office, which had no men properly trained in forestry. But another Department, the Agriculture, possessed the trained men. In other words, the Government forests were without foresters and the Government foresters without forests. Waste of effort and waste of forests inevitably followed. Finally the situation was ended in 1905 by the creation of the United States Forest Service, which has stopped the waste, conserved the resources of the national forests, and made them useful; so that our forests are now being managed on a coherent plan, and in a way that augurs well for the future.

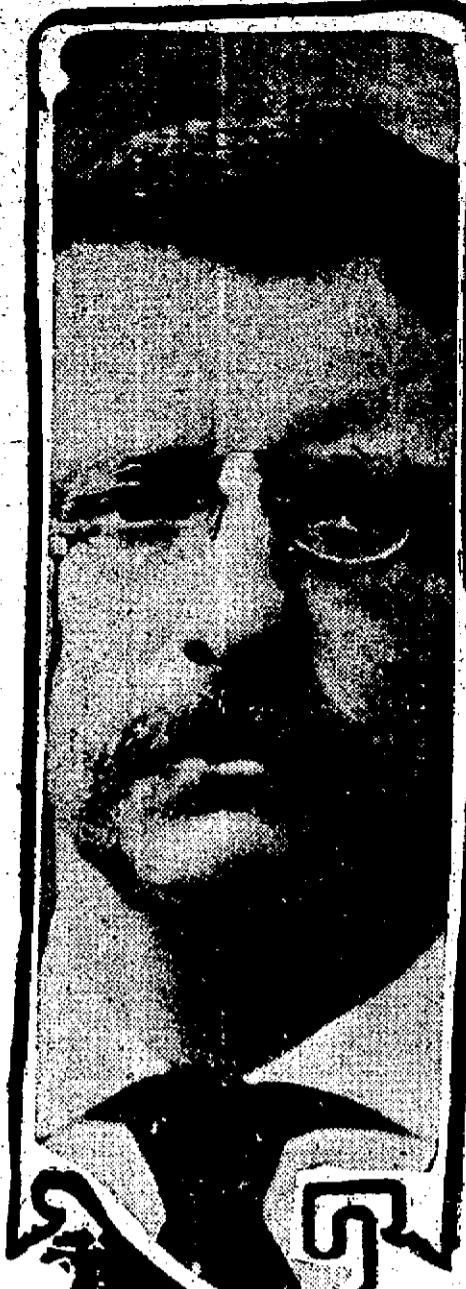

On the main line of the eastern United States have already passed into the hands of large private owners and those of the West are rapidly following. This should not be, for such mineral resources belong in a peculiar degree to the whole people. Under private control there is much waste from shortsighted methods of working, and the complete utilization is often sacrificed for a greater immediate profit. The mineral fuels under our present conditions are as essential to our prosperity as the forests will always be. The difference is that the supply is definitely limited, for coal does not grow and trees do. It is obvious that the mineral fuels should be conserved, not wasted, and that conserving, not wasted, and that hands of the Government to protect the people against unjust or extortionate prices so far as that can still be done.

What has been accomplished in the regulation of the great oil fields of the Indian Territory offers a striking example of the good results of such regulation. Last summer, the oil companies withdrew most of the oil-bearing public lands temporarily from disposal, and asked legislation necessary to protect the public interest by the conservation of the mineral fuels; that is for the power to keep the fee in the Government and to lease the coal, oil, and gas rights under proper regulation. No such legislation was passed, but I still hope that we shall ultimately get it.

SCORES RANGE MEN FOR LAND ABUSE

In addition to treating aright for the benefit of the whole people the forests and the mineral beds, we should similarly try to preserve for the benefit of all the people the great stretches of public domain, some three hundred million acres in all, which are unfit for cultivation by present methods and valuable only for the forage which they supply. This vast area now open to the free grazing of cattle, sheep, horses, and goats, without restriction or regulation. When population has increased, as is now the case, such utter lack of management means that the public domain is turned over to be managed by men whose only concern is to get what they can out of it at the moment, without any regard to whether or not it is ruined so far as the next generation is concerned. In other words, the range is not so much used as wasted by abuse; and as an incident consider-now as to the matter of taxation. Most great civilized countries have an income tax, and an inheritance tax is my judgment both should be part of our system of taxation. The

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

PRESIDENT OPENS THE GEORGIA STATE BUILDING AT JAMESTOWN

Dwells on Care of Children and Injured Employees

EXPOSITION GROUNDS, Va., June 10.—Brought back to the Jamestown Exposition by the formal opening of Bulloch hall, the ancestral home of his mother at Roswell, Georgia, and reproduced here as the Georgia State building, President Roosevelt today is for the second time the central figure of an attractive exposition program.

The military and naval spectacle was not greatly dissimilar to that which marked the visit of the President when the exposition was opened on April 29. The President was the guest of the exposition for about one hour, arriving with a special party, including Mrs. Roosevelt, on the Mayflower at 9:20 a. m. After receiving the Georgia officials on board and with them as his guests in reviewing the fleets assembled in Hampton Roads, he was landed at the exposition grounds at about 11 o'clock. He made a speech as part of the Georgia day exercises in the afternoon, and will make another at the convention of the national editors in the auditorium this evening.

He reviewed the parade of the military and naval forces, visited the negro exhibit, participated in the presentation of a silver service by the State of Georgia to the battleship named after her, attended a reception given at the Georgia building by Georgians alone in honor of himself and Mrs. Roosevelt, and visited in formally the New York State building.

He will depart for Washington at about 5 o'clock. The weather was just cloudy enough to break the heat of the sun. From early morning every street car and boat arriving at the exposition deposited hundreds of passengers. Every part of the exposition grounds except the "warpath" was covered by the President in his strenuous day. The New York building and the Georgia building and the negro exhibit situated at extreme opposite ends of the grounds and the Georgia stands and the auditorium, where the speeches were made, are in about the center of the grounds. The reservation was thronged with the crowds.

ROADS CROWDED

The grounds were crowded with the greatest attendance since the opening of the exposition, and the reception given on the first day was also a member declared that the Thirteen States had become a new and independent nation. Since then Georgia has grown at a rate even more astounding than the rate of growth of the nation as a whole; her sons have stood high in every field of activity, intellectual or physical; and again, though her progress has been in the past, it bids fair to be even greater in the wonderful new century which has now fairly opened.

Perhaps the most fact that half southern and half northern blood and that for many years I was brought into peculiarly close association with the life of the great West, makes it natural for me to feel with intensity the strong sense of kinship with every portion of our great common country, which should be the birthright of every true American. Since I have been President I have visited every State and Territory within the borders of the Union, save such as can only be reached by sea. I have also traveled from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. I have spoken at many fairs, to colleges, to commercial and business organizations, to labor organizations, to men of every creed and parentage.

As in my judgment, however, the inheritance tax is both a fair, better method of taxation, and far more important for the purpose I have in view—the purpose of having the swollen fortunes of the country bear in proportion to their size a constantly increasing burden of taxation. These fortunes exist solely because of the protection given the owners by the public. They are a constant source of care and anxiety to the public and it is evident that they should be forced to pay heavily for the protection given them. It is, of course, elementary that the nation has the absolute right to decide as to the terms upon which any man shall receive a bequest or devise from another. We have repeatedly placed such laws on our own statute books, and they have repeatedly been declared constitutional by the courts. I believe that the tax should contain the progressive principle. Whatever any individual receives, whether by gift, bequest, or devise, whether in life or in death, after a certain amount is reached, be it increasingly burdened; and the rate of taxation should be increased in proportion to the remoteness of blood of the man receiving from the man giving or devising.

PRINCIPLE NOW IS RECOGNIZED

The principle of this progressive taxation of inheritances has not only been authoritatively recognized by the legislation of Congress, but it is now unequivocally adopted in the leading civilized nations of the world—in, for instance, Great Britain, France, and Germany. Switzerland led off with the imposition of high progressive rates. Great Britain was the first of the great nations to follow suit, and within the last few years both France and Germany have adopted the principle. In Great Britain all estates worth five thousand dollars or less are practically exempt from death duties while the increase is such that when an estate exceeds five millions of dollars in value and passes to a distant kinsman or stranger in blood the Government receives nearly eighteen percent.

The inability of the railroads of the United States to meet the demands upon them has drawn public attention forcibly to the use of our waterways for transportation. But it is obvious that this is only one of their many uses, and that a planned and orderly development is impossible except by taking into account all the services they are capable of rendering. It was upon this ground that the Inland Waterways Commission was recently appointed. Their duty is to propose a comprehensive plan for the improvement and utilization of those great waterways which are the great potential highways of the country. Their duty is also to bring together the points of view of all users of streams, in order to submit a general plan for the development and conservation of the waterways of the United States. Clearly it is impossible for the Waterways Commission to accomplish its great task without considering the use of streams, to the conservation and use of all other natural resources, and I have asked that it do so.

Here then, for the first time, the orderly development and planned conservation of all our natural resources is presented as a single problem. One by one the individual cases in this great problem have already been undertaken. One by one in practical fashion the methods of dealing with them were worked out. National irrigation has proved itself a success by its actual working.

PRINCIPLE OF THE SETTLERS

Again, actual experience has shown that the national forests will fulfill the larger purpose for which they were created. All who have thoughtfully studied the subject have come to the same conclusion of the public lands question, with the settler who lives on his land, and that Government control of the mineral fuels and the public grazing lands is necessary and inevitable. Each of these conclusions represented a movement of vast importance which would confer large benefits upon the nation, but which, stood by itself. They are connected together into one great fundamental problem of the conservation of all our natural resources. Upon the wise solution of this much of our future depends the future. Much research as to the regulation of railways, roads, and the control of corporations are in reality subsidiary to the primal problem of the preservation in the interests of the whole people of the resources that nature has given us. If we fail to solve this problem, no skill in solving the others will in the end avail us very greatly.

WARM RECEPTION FOR PRESIDENT

In the United States the National Government has more than once imposed inheritance taxes. In addition to those imposed by the States, and in the last instance about one-half of the States levied such taxes concurrently with the National Government, making a combined maximum rate, in some cases as high as twenty-five per cent; and, as a matter of fact, several States adopted inheritance tax laws for the first time while the national law was still in force and unenacted.

The French law has one feature which is to be heartily commended. The progressive principle is so applied that each higher rate is imposed only on the excess above the amount subject to the tax. The French law has one feature which is to be heartily commended. The progressive principle is so applied that each higher rate is imposed only on the excess above the amount sub-

SCHOOLS MUST CALL "BLUFFS"

Wheeler's Offer From Boston
"Tech" Simmers Down to Salary Question.

BERKELEY, June 10.—Telegrams from Boston show that President Benson, Mr. Wheeler is "considering" the offer made him by the Boston Institute of Technology. Heretofore Wheeler's friends have claimed that he would accept the offer, and the general word from Boston is that he will do so. According to the wishes of his wife, The Dispatch goes on to say that Mrs. Wheeler prefers California's climate to the rigorous kind found in New England. To the minds of many this settles the "Tech's" offer and Wheeler will return.

One man who is said to be close enough in the workings of the State University to be in a position to know the truth is Mr. Wheeler. He will return to California. He never had any other intention. You will notice that the Eastern school offers $6000 a year more salary than is being meting there. The increase alone would be satisfactory as an annual salary for any man.

"President Wheel wants more money but he wants California. An offer from Boston is being forced to be present at the meeting Tuesday evening. The entire student body is greatly incensed at him and openly express a hope for his continuation. There is no one who thinks that President Wheeler will leave the State University. He has everything as he wishes it. The faculty is numerous and in a small way has a pecuniarity all its own. The only thing that is not satisfactory is the salary and this may be increased in order to retain him.

SAYS MANY FORGET COVENANT OF GOD

REEDMOND, June 10.—At the Franklin Presbyterian Church the pastor, Rev. Franklin Rhoda, preached at the morning service from the text: Deuteronomy 4:23. "Take heed to yourselves lest ye forget the covenant of the Lord your God." "A great multitude today of those who are a part of Christian civilization are not gloriously sinful," he said, "but they forget to pray, to read the Bible, to attend church, and are fast losing the fine edge to their conscience."

"The leading outward occasions and inducements to forget God are:

"1. The baser passion that fills the gambler's heart that fills the whole mind and absorbs the whole attention.

"2. The passion for pleasure—not rest, but a toroish passion for amusement. The crowded theaters, dance halls, and race tracks; the games, social and public, bear witness.

"3. It is not for kings, O, Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine, nor for princes strong drink, lest they drink and forget the law."—Prov. 31:4-5. Drink not only numbs the conscience, but sears the conscience till man forgets God, and wife and family and even duty, high or low, and the consequences of forgetting God are incalculable. "And it shall be, if thou do at all forget the Lord thy God, ye shall surely perish." Deut. 3:20.

On Sunday, June 2, at the close of the communion service, Mr. Rhoda, the pastor, called for volunteers to form a church promotion committee who would pledge themselves to make at least one visit a week in the interest of the church, to invite people to its services, and to report each Sunday at a meeting of the committee to be held after the morning service. With the greatly increased population of Reedmond, it is believed that a little more effort on the part of each member would fill every department of the church to overflowing.

BISHOP SILVA CONDUCTS IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Over Two Hundred Persons Confirmed in Catholic Faith by Distinguished Church-man During Ceremonies.

HAYWARD, June 10.—A popular reception was given here to Bishop Silva by the Portuguese societies, which greeted him yesterday morning at the parochial residence with playing bands and flying banners. The visitor had been received by Father Vining, from Centerville, but the formal reception had been deferred in consequence of the uncertainty of the time of his arrival. The reception previously planned for Friday last was postponed.

As the hour for the principal mass of the Sabbath morning approached, the Catholic residents flocked to the vicinity of the church, and the association already assembled. Here the musicians encouraged the national air of Portugal and United States, and the appearance of his grace in full canonicals, who was then led to the church, preceded by a procession of young girls, robed in white, and surrounded by thousands of his countrymen, congratulated him.

Entering the church the distinguished visitor ascended the throne on the gospel side of the altar and participated in the benediction of the host, which was sung by the Rev. Father Vining, assisted by Father Cranwell and Father Sullivan, as deacon and subdeacon, and an augmented choir.

As the first gospel, Bishop Silva ascended the pulpit and preached the panegyric of St. Anthony, whose feast day it was. Benediction of the blessed sacrament followed the mass, and in the afternoon the confirmation and ministered by the bishop to 120 children and ninety adults.

Bishop Silva left last evening for Pleasanton to participate in religious services there.

As a result of his office being put into the second class, Postmaster Bradford will hereafter receive a salary of $2,000 per year. His two assistants will receive $800 and $800 respectively.

Twelve mailies are received here daily, and pouches are made up for all the small towns and settlements which are reached by stage from this point. There are, in addition, two rural deliveries connected with the office.

The Woodmen of the World had their Decoration day yesterday and the grave of every deceased member at this end of the county had its dress of flowers. The brotherhood assembled in their hall early in the day and were divided into delegations which bore the floral tributes to the Mount Eden, Lone Tree, San Lorenzo, and Catholic Cemeteries for distribution.

Marshall Charles W. Schilling has served notices on property owners that they must clean the weeds from their sidewalks otherwise the town authorities will do so at the expense of the delinquents.

Peter Nissen who is running a bus in opposition to the B street car, claims to be satisfied with results. He has one advantage over the car service in being able to drop his passengers at any part of town, and that helps him.

There are already fifty gas consumers in town, but no fatal accidents have yet been recorded though the subtle fluid has been turned on for two full weeks.

DISCUSSES NEEDS OF NEW SOCIAL ORDER

HAYWARD, June 10.—Rev. B. Dent Naylor, pastor of the Congregational Church, concluded yesterday morning his series of sermons on "The Social Message of St. James," taking the first six verses of the last chapter of the Epistle for his text and "Riches and Responsibility" as his theme. He said in part:

"The thing that jars upon the modern Christian conscience is the unequal distribution of material wealth, causing a railing accusation against men of wealth, for like other men, there are good and bad among them.

Commencing next Monday evening, the company will appear in "The Amer," a brilliant work by Victor Herbert. There were mention of this composer's name is a guarantee for a feast of melody.

Commencing with the run of "The Amer," there will be a slight change in the prices at Idora Park. The reserved seats in the opera house will be fifty cents and general admission twenty-five cents, in addition to admission to the park, which is ten cents for adults and five cents for children. Admission tickets to the park will also be on sale at the downtown office at Sherman Clay & Co.'s. There has been so much misunderstanding under the present system that the new one has been found imperative, and to offset the slight advance, which affects only the higher-priced seats, the management will further increase and strengthen the company. The orchestra is now a capable of playing along with the band, and the chorus is to be increased. There will be some new faces added to the cast also in a short time, and the management challenges comparison with any of the high-priced road shows that have visited us in the past year.

GRAND OPERA FOR THE WIN-TER

Encouraged by the success of the short season of grand opera by the San Carlo Opera Company at the Liberty Playhouse a few months ago, Impresario Will Greenbaum is arranging for a short series of grand opera in Italian for October next.

The company will come from Italy direct to California and then tour Mexico.

It is probable that the great Teterzini will head the list of sopranos.

STRIKERS DECLARE HOT DAYS WILL AID THEM

NEW YORK, June 10.—Patrick Connors, the president of the Longshoremen's Union, whose members have been on strike for several weeks for increased wages, declares there has been no weakening in the ranks of the men, and that they are prepared, if necessary, to stay out all summer.

A surprising feature of the strike has been the firmness of the men in standing together in the face of the fact that the steamship companies have succeeded in getting many non-union men to go to work. They are moving freight in fairly good shape. It had been believed that the longshoremen, from dire necessity, would be forced to abandon their strike, but thus far the men have remained firm.

The strike leaders think that hot weather will take the heart out of the non-union men, so that their side will have some prospect of success.

"Give us three or four days of scorching weather," said President Connors at a meeting of the strikers Sunday. "And the steamship companies will beg us to go back to work."

NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL AND MISSION OPENED

DISCUSSES NEEDS OF NEW SOCIAL ORDER

HAYWARD, June 10.—Rev. B. Dent Naylor, pastor of the Congregational Church, concluded yesterday morning his series of sermons on "The Social Message of St. James," taking the first six verses of the last chapter of the Epistle for his text and "Riches and Responsibility" as his theme. He said in part:

"The thing that jars upon the modern Christian conscience is the unequal distribution of material wealth, causing a railing accusation against men of wealth, for like other men, there are good and bad among them.

Commencing next Monday evening, the company will appear in "The Amer," a brilliant work by Victor Herbert. There were mention of this composer's name is a guarantee for a feast of melody.

Commencing with the run of "The Amer," there will be a slight change in the prices at Idora Park. The reserved seats in the opera house will be fifty cents and general admission twenty-five cents, in addition to admission to the park, which is ten cents for adults and five cents for children. Admission tickets to the park will also be on sale at the downtown office at Sherman Clay & Co.'s. There has been so much misunderstanding under the present system that the new one has been found imperative, and to offset the slight advance, which affects only the higher-priced seats, the management will further increase and strengthen the company. The orchestra is now a capable of playing along with the band, and the chorus is to be increased. There will be some new faces added to the cast also in a short time, and the management challenges comparison with any of the high-priced road shows that have visited us in the past year.

GRAND OPERA FOR THE WIN-TER

Encouraged by the success of the short season of grand opera by the San Carlo Opera Company at the Liberty Playhouse a few months ago, Impresario Will Greenbaum is arranging for a short series of grand opera in Italian for October next.

The company will come from Italy direct to California and then tour Mexico.

It is probable that the great Teterzini will head the list of sopranos.

STRIKERS DECLARE HOT DAYS WILL AID THEM

NEW YORK, June 10.—Patrick Connors, the president of the Longshoremen's Union, whose members have been on strike for several weeks for increased wages, declares there has been no weakening in the ranks of the men, and that they are prepared, if necessary, to stay out all summer.

A surprising feature of the strike has been the firmness of the men in standing together in the face of the fact that the steamship companies have succeeded in getting many non-union men to go to work. They are moving freight in fairly good shape. It had been believed that the longshoremen, from dire necessity, would be forced to abandon their strike, but thus far the men have remained firm.

The strike leaders think that hot weather will take the heart out of the non-union men, so that their side will have some prospect of success.

"Give us three or four days of scorching weather," said President Connors at a meeting of the strikers Sunday. "And the steamship companies will beg us to go back to work."

NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL AND MISSION OPENED

Address were delivered by the Rev. John Bakewell, D. D., rector emeritus of Trinity church, the Rev. Clifton Macom, the rector, and the Rev. Nelson Saunders, assistant rector. The choir of Trinity church rendered the music.

The Crime of Incendiarism.

It is strongly suspected that incendiarism must be added to the troubles against which San Francisco is compelled to contend. Two attempts are said to have been made Saturday morning to burn buildings in the Richmond district; and the fire on Saturday night in the new wholesale district on Bryant street, between Seventh and Eighth, which destroyed a public school building, a flour mill, a macaroni factory and other property approximating $200,000 in value, is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The loss falls almost entirely on the city and other owners of the property destroyed, as only a small insurance risk had been assumed. Insurance companies have, in fact, refused to take any risks in that and some other sections of San Francisco on either buildings or contents, owing to the temporary and inflammatory nature of the structures. This fact does not lessen, however, the enormity of the crime of incendiarism, and the strictest moral sense in any quarter could scarcely be shocked in the slightest degree if short shrift should be given to any one caught in the act of carrying out or attempting to carry out his nefarious designs. The most contemptible and the least worthy of sympathy or mercy of all criminals is the incendiary, for, in the execution of his plans, the menace to human life which may be involved in the destruction of property, cuts no figure in his calculations. The motive inspiring the deed is uninfluenced by any regard for the sacrifice of human life. The incendiary, therefore, puts himself clearly outside of the pale of any merciful consideration, as he is the worst and most dangerous of the enemies of human society.

National Volcanic Monuments.

It is announced that President Roosevelt has proclaimed Lassen Peak and the Cinder Cone in the national forest reserves in northern California as national monuments, in accordance with the authority conferred upon him by an act of Congress, approved last June, providing for such dedication by him "of historic landmarks, historic and prehistoric structures and other objects of historic and scientific interest that are situated on lands owned or controlled by the United States."

Lassen Peak is one of the most interesting and conspicuous landmarks in Lassen county, and is located in the Lassen Peak national forest reserve. Cinder Cone seems to have been erroneously located in the same reserve. The proclamation probably refers to the mountain of volcanic cinder located at the base of Mt. Shasta in Siskiyou county which, next to Shasta itself, is the most notable and conspicuous feature in that section of the State. These national monuments have been selected, however, by the President as marking the southern limit of the group of extinct volcanoes in the Cascade range of southern Oregon and northern California, of which Mt. Shasta was one of the group. These extinct volcanoes were responsible in the days of their activity for the great sheet of lava which stretches from the left bank of the Columbia river through the whole length of the State of Oregon to almost the central part of this State, which today forms the so-called iron cap spread over the greater part of the mineral belt of the northern mining counties, covering, like a blanket, the great copper veins of Shasta, Siskiyou and Trinity counties and the auriferous gravel deposits of the dead ancient river beds whence the deposits in the beds of the modern streams derived their wealth, and the surviving remnants of which gave birth to the hydraulic mining industry.

The volcanic group which produced this extensive lava sheet is, however, no longer a menace. All geologists agree that it has been completely burned out and is totally extinct. The only evidence of volcanic activity remaining is manifested in the hot springs which are so numerous in the territory covered by the group and the region contiguous to it. These constitute the expiring efforts of nature's turbulent and destructive forces in that section.

In the course of a few days it is represented that all of the damage done during the March showers and floods to the levees of the islands at the junction of the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers will have been repaired and the flooded lands drained. The damage done to crops has not been anywhere so serious as was first estimated. The asparagus crop came through the flood absolutely unimpaired and most of the land planted in potatoes, which was submerged, has been drained in time to raise a late crop.

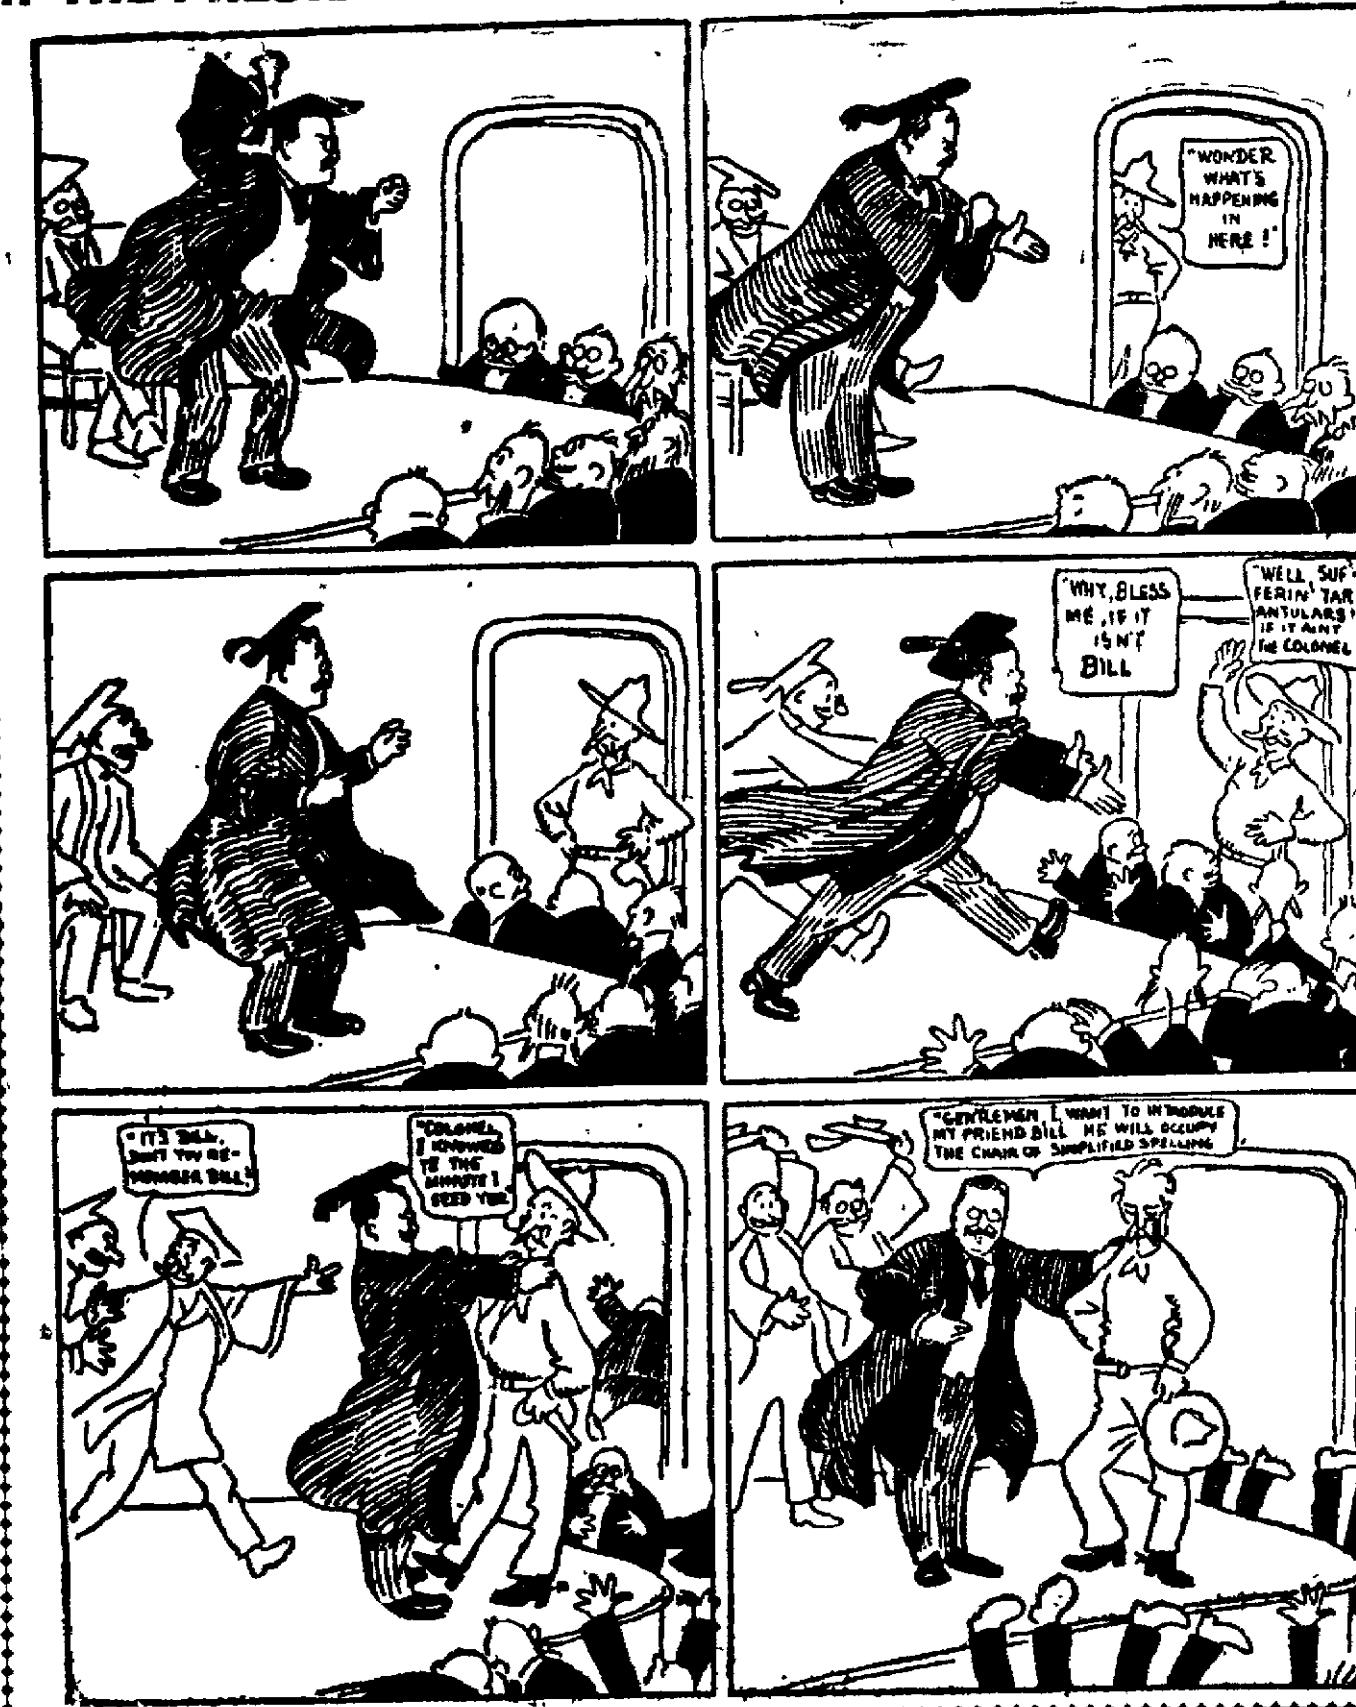

Minimizing the Horrors of War.

The position of the United States at the second Hague conference to be held this month is a matter of leading interest, for the reason that the conference has been called at the suggestion of the government at Washington. Naturally, all of the topics to be considered at the conference relate to war—to prevent, if possible, or to minimize its damaging effects, if unavoidable. That is, the international rules of war will be subject to revision again as they were at the Geneva convention.

Since the Russian-Japanese war, which was precipitated practically without notice, the subject of a time limitation on a declaration of war is to be taken up and the American delegates are under instructions to favor ample notice being given before actual hostilities are begun and to advocate the insurance of reasonable protection of the rights of neutral residents in the belligerent countries and for neutral trade. They are also under instructions to exert their influence and cast their votes to minimize the right of bombardment and the seizure of private property at sea. It is not improbable that the proposition to restrict the right to war on commerce and seize private property on the high seas will be opposed by the representatives of those nations which have little or no commerce, for these nations usually count in time of war on being able to cripple a maritime antagonist through concentrating their energies against the commerce of the foe. Then again, the United States delegates are to give all their support to the proposition of totally forbidding the collection, by the use or display of force, or other coercive measures, of the debts of the citizens of one nation to those of another.

The American delegates will also favor a limitation on the use of torpedoes and submarine mines in time of war, as the experiences during the Russian-Japanese war showed that an indiscriminate use of such weapons was a standing menace to the peaceful commerce of neutral nations and continued to be a source of danger to the navigation of the high seas long after the war was concluded. The Geneva convention put a positive prohibition on the use of Greek fire and certain other combustibles in time of war, and that serves as a precedent for the restriction of other instruments of warfare now tolerated and employed.

FORMER BURLINGAME CLUB BOOKKEEPER IS ARRESTED

Ralph E. Parr, Son of Alameda Couple Is Held in Denver on Charges of Forging Checks.

Ralph E. Parr, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Parr of 2262 San Jose avenue, Alameda, is in a serious predicament, and may be compelled to serve a term in prison on a forgery charge, which has been placed against him by the Bankers' association. Parr, who for six months was the bookkeeper in the Burlingame Country club, in San Mateo county, where San Francisco society gathers during the week to play golf and sip cool beverages from long glasses, is accused of having raised a check signed by the president of the club, George A. Newhall, from $6 to $600, and a warrant has been sworn out for his arrest and he is now in custody at Denver where he went on the 22d of last month when the discovery of his shortage was inevitable.

HOW HE WORKED IT.

President J. E. Baker, of the local bank, says that the fashionable club makes good the $600 that was paid on the raised check but that the bank on Alameda will be compelled to stand the other losses, amounting to $220. The check that was raised was originally for $6 but when Parr made it out he left room to add the word "hundred" and after it was signed by the president of the club he is alleged to have forged the name of the workman for whom it was intended. BURIES HERSELF IN SAND TO ESCAPE POLICEMEN

SACRAMENTO, June 10.—After an all-night search for Teddy Wright, a negro accused of making an assault with a razor on Edna Relli yesterday, the police found the woman buried up to her neck in a sand lot near the Southern Pacific depot. She had lain in the sand all night waiting for the departure of a delayed train for Marysville, at which place she expected to be protected from arrest. During the night six negroes acted as her scouts and kept her informed of the movements of the police, while a seventh stood guard over her. The actions of one of these negroes, H. Miller, excited the suspicion of the police. He was shadowed and followed to the woman's hiding place.

EX-CONGRESSMAN WILL NOT FORSAKE HIS WIVES

Brigham H. Roberts, Noted Polygamist, Brings Applause for First Time in Twenty Years.

SALT LAKE, Utah, June 10.—Before a large congregation at the Mormon Tabernacle yesterday, former Congressman Brigham H. Roberts, who was not allowed his seat in Congress on account of being a polygamist and who is one of the highest officials in the church, declared in spite of the proclamation of church and state, he would still stick to his wives. Further he admitted that there have been polygamous marriages in the church since the manifesto and for that reason Apostles Taylor and Crowley were dropped from their places a year ago. This is the first official statement of the reason the men were deposed.

The address was in reply to a lengthy criticism of the Ministerial association of the city.

"We propose to defend both our faith and our church," he declared. "After the manifesto was issued it was the opinion of some that it did not pre-

LAUNDRY FOLK DESIRE PEACE

Workers Will Hold Out for Schedule of 48 Hours Per Week.

The owners of the laundries of Alameda county are to meet the members of the International Shirt, Waist and Laundry Workers' Union of Alameda county this week and will confer once again on the forty-eight-hours-a-week proposition, which was the immediate cause of the laundry workers' strike. Even if the laundries in San Francisco open tomorrow with union men and women, it will not affect the members of the Alameda County Laundry Association, who will still stand out for their rights in the eight-hour cause.

The laundry owners on this side of the bay will have to recognize the forty-eight-hours-a-week proposal or the union men and women say they will remain out until this point is won.

This is the eleventh week of the strike, and a final settlement has not as yet been reached, though the laundry workers state that they have a desire to make peace.

BELIEVE TAFT WILL BE SUED

NEW YORK, June 10.—The statement of Mrs. Ayres, wife of Lieutenant-Colonel Charles G. Ayres, U. S. A., in which she spoke of the Secretary of War's letter to her husband forbidding her to trespass upon the reservation at West Point as "so insulting and despicable that I will not repeat it," and which she said she had placed in the hands of her lawyers, was considered an intimation at West Point, according to dispatches today, that she intended to include Secretary Taft in the suit for damages she says she will bring. Mrs. Ayres refused to explain further what was in the order preventing her from seeing her son, Captain Ayres, who is a cadet at the academy.

It was stated at West Point that Secretary Taft approved the recommendations of Colonel Mills and Colonel Scott in their reports to the department on Colonel Howe's complaint against Mrs. Ayres, which is the basis of her suit. The Secretary, instead of ordering Colonel Ayres to remove his wife from near the post, instructed him to prevent her from "trespassing" upon the West Point reservation so long as their son shall be in the academy. If young Ayres should ever be severely ill, the Secretary adds, she will be notified and a permit for her to see him will be issued either by the Secretary or the adjutant-general forthwith.

DEATH CLAIMS STATE'S FATHER OF IRRIGATION

THE LATE WILLIAM WALLACE DAVIS.

Grief Over Wife's Loss Hastens End of William Wallace Davis, Pioneer Farmer of San Joaquin.

After a short illness, William Wallace Davis, a prominent figure in the early agricultural development of California died at 9 o'clock Sunday morning in Providence hospital after an operation performed on his leg, where gangrene had set in. Mr. Davis had been failing rapidly since the death of his wife, last year. His condition became so serious that his near and dear ones thought it necessary for him to receive medical treatment. It was last Sunday that the surgical operation was performed as the last resort to prolong the life of Mr. Davis. He had been suffering some months with blood poisoning.

WIFE'S DEATH A SHOCK. For more than half a century Mr. Davis had been in close and beautiful companionship with the wife he crossed the plains with in the early pioneer days. He grieved at his great loss when she passed away some sixteen months ago, but bore his affliction nobly. Her death was a tremendous shock to him. His decline commenced soon after Mrs. Davis was buried.

Mr. Davis was a member of Sequoia Lodge No. 348, F. and A. M., of Oakland; Trig chapter No. 69, Royal Arch Masons, of Madera, and Fresno commandery No. 29, Knights Templar. He is survived by three sons, Charles W. Davis of Portland, Oregon, Gideon Davis, president of the Oakland Herald of this city, and Edward Davis of New York. He was one of the founders of the First Christian church of Oakland. The funeral will be held from the church on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. F. A. Boyer, the pastor, will officiate. The body will be cremated.

The following will be the pall bearers: F. Lodgett and W. H. Brown of the First Christian church; Paul Struckman and T. J. Thompson, of Sequoia Lodge, F. & A. M.; I. H. Clay and H. H. Leonard, friends of the family.

TAKES PLEDGE BEFORE COURT

Woman Arrested for Drunkenness Signs Agreement Not to Drink for Year.

Say, what is finer than a day in June? You have three guesses and the answer is not "two days in June." I may as well tell you—it's the new June neckwear. Take the new four-in-hand with the high mercerized finish that puts them in the dollar class but costs you only half. You can't own too many of these. And the new shirts with the cushion neck-band—but, say, I wasn't to talk of a thing but neckwear in today's ads. I think we have 4000 patterns (more or less) in polka dots, checks, plaids, stripes, and solid colors. Lots of young fellows want the solid colors, to make them solid with the old man. They look more subdued and yet they're just as pretty as the fancy effects. No matter how you dress, we have the ties you want from the gayest to the meekest—and the sweetest assortment of linen ties, made-ups and batwings and just ties. Your cravat is the most conspicuous part of your attire. It is always in front of you—a sort of introduction. First impressions, you know. Did you ever notice how much dressier some ladies are about their neckwear than others? Same way with men.

Police Court Clerk W. M. Smith prepared the following oath, which was witnessed by Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Hennessy and John W. Mott:

"Annie King, being duly sworn deposes and says that she will refrain from using intoxicating liquor or wines or any admixture thereof for the period of one year from the above date."

Annie hastened to attach her signature and the charge of drunkenness against her was dismissed. The woman has been serving a life sentence in the city jail on the installment plan, and during her incarceration has filled the jail and corridor with her songs.

Members of Order Send Telegram to Accused Men at Boise, Idaho.

DENVER, June 10.—About two hundred delegates to the fifteenth annual convention of the Western Federation of Miners were present in Odd Fellows' hall to-day when Acting President C. E. Mahoney called the assembly to order. British Columbia, Alaska and Mexico, as well as all the Western States, are represented. A committee was appointed this morning to examine the credentials of the delegates and it is expected to report this evening, after which the convention will be ready for business. Its sessions will continue fifteen days.

One of the first questions, it is said, the convention will discuss is the formation of the industrial unions organized to craft organization, by which is meant the consolidation into one federation of all the unions engaged in the different branches of the same enterprise.

No opposition to continuing in office President Chas. H. Moyer and Secretary-Treasurer Wm. D. Haywood has been expressed by any of the delegates and the convention is expected to go on record with a strong endorsement of the imprisoned officials, who are charged with complicity in the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg of Idaho.

The following members of the executive board are in attendance at the convention:

ject to the next lower rate. This plan is peculiarly adapted to the working out of the theory of using the inheritance tax for the purpose of leveling the scale of the fortunes, since a progressive increase in the rates, according to this mode, may be carried to its logical conclusion in a maximum rate of nearly one hundred per cent for the amount in excess of a specified sum, without being confiscatory as to the rest of the inheritance, for each increase in rate would apply only to the amount above a certain maximum.

I do not believe that any advantage comes either to the country as a whole or for the individuals inheriting the money by permitting the transmission in their entirety of such enormous fortunes as have been accumulated in America. The tax could be made to bear more heavily upon persons residing out of the country than upon those residing within it. Thus upon a heavy progressive tax of course in no shape or way a tax on thrift or industry, for thrift and industry have ceased to possess any measurable importance in the acquisition of the swollen fortunes of which I speak long before the tax would in any way seriously affect them. Such tax would be one of the methods by which we should try to preserve a measurable equality of opportunity for the people of the generation growing to manhood. As Lincoln pointed out, there are some respects in which men are obviously not equal; but there is no reason why there should not be an equality of self-respect, and of mutual respect, an equality of rights before the law, and at least an approximate equality in the conditions under which each man obtains the chance to show the stuff that is in him when compared with his fellows.

COURT DECISION MAY BLOCK RECLAMATION.

The legal fraternity, together with officials of the reclamation service on the coast, is wondering to what extent the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Kansas, Colorado case, which in part declares that the federal authorities' constitutional right to control arid lands for purposes of their reclamation, will have upon the extension reclamation schemes now in existence in the West. Justice Brewer rendered the decision, and, in addition to indicating that the Government had no right to undertake such work under any conditions, it expresses a further opinion that there is doubt whether the Government can perform such work even if it over 90 per cent of the land which is to be reclaimed, as contended by parties to the suit.

It is thought that people opposed to the present handling of reclamation funds, especially people in the Southern States, who have all along contended that they were entitled to some of the funds to drain large swamp areas in their section, may seize upon this decision to bring suit to contest the entire question of federal control of arid land reclamation.

There are now twenty-four reclamation schemes in the Western States, two of which are in California. Of the number, however, are already under way. The total funds available for their construction amount to $35,000,000, and when the projects are completed they will reclaim about a million and a half acres of land and furnish homes for 300,000 people.

Pierce Pitches
Remarkable Game

STAR OF THE STOCKTON TEAM

NAPA, June 10.—In the fast-paced game of baseball ever played in this section of the country and probably the fastest game of baseball on record, Napa defeated the Lovers of San Francisco, 5 to 1. The game only consumed one hour and seven minutes. Pierce, Napa's new twirler, allowed the visitors no hits and only one base on balls.

Beavers Hand the Seals a Drubbing

PORLAND, Or., June 10.—With pitching pretty nearly so, Portland could not help but win today. The Beavers took sweet revenge for the drubbing Quick administered last week and the tow-headed Seal twirler was found for a double and a triple by Bassey, three-base hit by McCredie, and six singles besides. Groom was the strongest man when it came to hitting. One of the hits credited to the Seals was a clean single. The others were both handled too slowly to retire the runner. Groom struck out seven.

San Francisco, as usual, started the scoring in the first. Mohler walked and stole second; Moriarty struck out and Brown reached his base when Carson dropped the ball. Mohler again to the plate, and out of the next double steal and Mohler registered the hit that saved San Francisco from a shut-out. Score:

Yachtsmen Hold a Fine Cruise

The Corinthian Yacht Club held a cruise to McNear's on Saturday evening, returning yesterday to Tiburon. The wind was very light Saturday and some of the yachts failed to reach the destination shown on the cable program, and most of them were able to anchor at McNear's. Those who failed stayed over night at Paradise Cove, and made an early start yesterday, joining the fleet before the commodes had signaled to hoist sail.

The yachts which were in the fleet included Commodore Brickett's flagship Genette, Frolic, Yankee, Mississippi, Mignon, Speedwell, Discovery, Shropshire, Neptune, Emma, Edna, Coral, May, Bells, Josie and Dixie.

At Yountville, the Veterans' Home team won from the Allen's dry goods team of San Francisco, 9 to 2. Leland, a local high school boy, won, struck out seventeen men. Last Sunday he batted out fifteen of St. Helena's players, and two weeks ago struck out sixteen of Cogswell High in a seventeen inning game.

St. Helena, at home, walloped Gantner & Mattocks of San Francisco, 4 to 1.

At Valkyo the home team won its second consecutive game from the Old Works in a series of three for a $100 side bet. Score, 3 to 1.

Tom Hackett Is Star of the Game

STOCKTON, June 10.—In a game of ball that was full of excitement Moreing's men defeated the San Jose team here yesterday by a score of 3 to 2. The contest was a see-saw affair and both teams had three or four chances to win out.

Benny Henderson was in rare form and he pitched a well-nigh faultless game.

During the afternoon he fanned seven of the San Jose batsmen, and his control and coolness were superb.

Tom Hackett, the ex-Oakland player, was the star of the day. Out of four times at bat he rapped out three hits, and his batting was responsible for the first run and the winning run. Henderson allowed only four hits, while Stockton combed nine from Arrelanes.

Presidios Defeat The Oakland Boys

SAN JOSE, June 10.—By hitting the ball at opportune moments the San Francisco State League team defeated the Oakland State Leaguers here yesterday afternoon by a score of 7 to 2. The first run was scored by Oakland in the fifth, when Radford made a clean single and Bloomfield presented Adney with a pass. Adney went down to second when Conrad tossed the ball gently toward Bloomfield. The latter attempted to catch the runner and threw the sphere into deep center, letting Radford score.

In San Francisco's half of the ninth Watson made first on an error, while Radford made second. Conrad fumbled the ball, and Radford dashed out a nice bunt, casting and dashed out a nice bunt, casting and dashed out a nice bunt, bringing both men home.

In the sixth San Francisco scored twice. Watson bringing in Rodgers, who had been in a pass with a base hit, and then hit and dashed home himself on a passed ball by Ells. In the seventh Cusick walked. Garibaldi hammered the ball for two, bringing in Cusick, and made the rest of the circuit on a clean single by Watson. The score:

While this story has little to do with the Britt-Nelson fight, it has something to do with the disposition of one Billy Nolan, and, to my judgment, is the nearest thing to a duplicate of dispositions as it would have been possible to have drawn.

Nolan, since he came into some prominence, has repeatedly shown that he, like the Indian, glories in the fact that he is strong enough to knife his friends and make them like it. After devoting most of his time for the past two years at knocking everybody connected with the boxing game in San Francisco, including the sporting writers and the city itself, he has come back, and, knowing that there is little chance for him to get any money with the Battling Dane any place but in Frisco, has set about to make arrangements for an opposition fight with Britt-Nelson.

While the present time he has been unsuccessful, and although the fans are anxious to see Britt and Nolan

JOINT COMMITTEE MEET
AND DISCUSS SITUATIONStreet Cars Will Run Until 9 O'clock--
All Night Service May Be Resumed
One Week Later.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—At a meeting held yesterday at the Labor Temple, by the Carmen's Union, the Building Trades Council and Labor Council, to conduct and finance the existing strike, Richard Cornellius was elected chairman of the committee and G. A. Twelmeier, secretary. At the meeting the situation in both the car and telephone strikes was thoroughly discussed and Prudential Welfare, president of the international Iron Molders' Union, expressed his views on the strike settlement of the iron trades, and said he believed that the movement accepted the scheme proposed, granting them the eight-hour work day by a sliding arrangement.

A finance committee, composed of P. J. McCarthy and A. Twelmeier, secretary of the Building Trades Council and Secretary-Treasurer J. H. Bowling of the Street Carmen's Union, was constituted to supervise all moneys paid out by the strike funds to those on strike.

RUN TILL 9 O'CLOCK.
Tonight the street cars will run till 9 o'clock and it is thought that within a week night service will be fully resumed, although officials of the United States declare they have as yet no definite plans.

"We have employed 270 permanent platform men in San Francisco alone," said Patrick C. O'Farrell, president in addition to those whom we have hired in other sections of the country. These outside men are among the constantly more than 150 of them being employed.

Somewhat later in the afternoon, the newest day, from a traffic standpoint, was the easiest day of the strike.

The reports for today are more than satisfactory, and the president of the Carmen's Union, said:

"The movement of the cars today was very encouraging to the Carmen's Union.

The movement of the cars today was Companions' Families.

ROME, June 10.—Filippo Cifarrero, a noted Italian sculptor who was in prison in Naples for more than a year awaiting trial for the murder of his woman companion, has been released and has recently been permitted to work at his art in order to ease his mind of his material troubles.

The artist's working cell has been fitted up as a studio and here the sculptor, who is believed to be mad, passes the day modeling with fervent activity. His latest work is a magnificent group of the royal family which he has taken from a picture postcard.

The artist has announced his intention of having it cast in bronze, after which he expects that it will be sold and he hopes that the money it brings will be used for the benefit of the prisoners' families.

John G. Smith, the young blacksmith who snatched a purse containing $56 from Mrs. Mary L. Henderson while she was walking along Jones street a few weeks ago, pleaded guilty this morning to the charge of robbery and was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the penitentiary at Folsom by Superior Judge Melvin. Smith said this morning that he was drunk at the time he grabbed the purse from the woman and ran, giving a number of carpenters a chase over fences and back yards for several blocks before they overpowered him and called the police.

The crime was committed in daylight.

Smith had been walking along the street when he stepped out and grabbed her purse.

Mrs. Henderson identified the man when he was tried in the police court. Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Alice W. L. Pelton and Mrs. Hattie Atkins were among the pretty society folk who attended the preliminary hearing of the robber in the lower court. They were with Mrs. Henderson when Smith attacked her.

TRAIN CHANGED
TIME SUNDAY

Important changes have been made in the outgoing and incoming trains on the Southern Pacific system and it is requested that those having occasion to travel during the next few days consult the TRIBUNE time tables printed elsewhere.

Travel is unusually active at the present time, and accommodations should be made much in advance of date of travel. Large trips are being engaged in the Coast line and Eastern divisions putting the road in perfect condition. While it has been customary to lay off at this season of year after all the repairs have been made to damage sustained by winter floods, the Southern Pacific Company are in need of more men to do the work.

Sheriff Frank Barrett left for Denver this morning where he will see Ralph E. Parr, the young society man and secretary of the Bullingame Club, who was arrested for raising a check.

LONG WHARF COMMERCE IS QUIET AN OBJECT LESSONMany Changes Have Recently Occurred at Oakland Gateway Where Ship and Car Meet.

WEST OAKLAND, June 10.—Long Wharf is a busy commercial gateway these days, as may be imagined by those persons who from passing ferry boats view the forest of masts and steamer funnels rising above the slips at the westerly end of the wharf. Despite the fact that the old wharf is much worn, and its planks in some places scarred by incendiary fires, thousands of cars of freight pass over it daily. This freight includes all kinds of pine and redwood lumber, shingles, railroad ties, cement, pig iron, hay, flour, coal, coke, match wood and other staple articles of commerce. Steamers, sailing ships, schooners, barks and barges bring here the products of the seafarers of the coast trade. Deep sea vessels bring coal, coke, pig iron, other valuable cargoes from foreign ports. The wharf facilities for receiving these fleets of commerce are taxed to their utmost capacity of late. There are days when the arrivals include 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 feet of lumber besides cargoes of other merchandise. It requires a small army of stevedores and railway employees to transfer these cargoes from ship to wharf and from wharf to cars. There can be no delays because vessels are bound to depart as early as possible and new arrivals want berth space at the wharf.

Nothing points more clearly to the immense stride Oakland has taken in a commercial way than does the increase of business activity at Long Wharf in recent years, and its usefulness as a point where ship and car can be laid alongside of each other and their cargoes exchanged is an object lesson for those who sneer at the proposition to have more wharfing along the harbor front where the argosies of the sea may discharge their merchandise burdens.

There is now at Long Wharf the iron steamer Kalibia of Glasgow, which brought a big cargo of pig iron from Newcastle. Among her crew are many Eskimos, and gaudy, light blue uniforms and gaudy turbans contrast sharply with the black iron bands of the Kalibia's hull. Opposite the Kalibia, in the same slip, is the steamer Elizabeth discharging a cargo of match wood from the forests of Oregon. Near by is the steamer Acme discharging 200,000 shingles from Gray's Harbor. In another slip lies the steamer Westerner from Aberdeen, Wash., with 600,000 feet of lumber. The schooner William Weston has just discharged 600,000 feet of lumber from the timber wharf station and the steamer Newwood 750,000 feet of lumber from Gray's Harbor. A dozen other craft are also being unloaded in the vicinity of these big freight carriers.

While increase of commerce has changed the aspect of Long Wharf on week days, in recent years, there has also come about a still more marked change there on Sundays. Formerly the wharf was a favorite resort for men, women and children with lunch baskets and fishing tackle. The waters under the wharf teemed with rock cod, bass, smelts, cat fish, porgies, shiners and crabs. Occasionally small sharks of the dog-fish variety, sting rays and small fish were taken.

There were also seasons when salmon trout were freely taken. After the ferryboats ceased to land at the slips at the westerly end of the wharf and the fences were removed from along the edges and the wharf devoted exclusively to commercial purposes, the fish-bait houses were ordered away and signs put up prohibiting fishing from the wharf. These orders resulted in completely changing the aspect of Long Wharf on Sundays. The old-time crowds of pleasure seeking folk no longer resort there for a day's outing with lunch baskets and fishing rods. Yesterday forenoon a lone fisherman in a skiff rowed down to the end of the wharf and with a small net succeeded in landing a striped bass weighing a trifle less than twenty-five pounds. The lucky man refused $2 for the fish, saying that in Chinatown he could easily get fourteen cents a pound for it. Besides this fisherman there were four young men who, during the day, tried their luck with drop lines from the wharf, notwithstanding the signs prohibiting fishing.

They caught only a few small rock cods and bass or perch. It is said that the presence of crude petroleum in the waters along the bay shore has driven the small fish away.
